Collages Announces a New Webinar Program For Professional Photographers

Kickoff for the free Collages Webinar Creative program is May 10, featuring Don MacGregor on Composition for Family Portraits

Raytown, MO (April 27, 2016) – Collages today announces a new webinar program consisting of twenty-five to thirty free webinars a year. Portrait Photographer Don MacGregor presenting Composition for Family Portraits will lead the first webinar in this new series on May 10. All of the webinars are designed to help educate Professional Photographers about topics of interest for growing their businesses. An overview of the program, webinar schedule and access to webinar replays can be found at http://discover.collages.net/webinars.

The webinar series will be taught by some of the most successful and widely respected leaders in their field. Speakers include Kia Bondurant, Ross Bothwell, Bruce and Josh Hudson, Don MacGregor, James Schmelzer, Val and Stephanie Westover, Kirk Voclain, Pete Wright and Lora Yeater.

Replays of past webinars are available now and include topics like Rockstar Marketing: Teaching Photo Classes by Bruce and Josh Hudson, Style Muse Seniors by Kia Bondurant and How to Be the Hottest Studio in Town by Kirk Voclain.

"Recent webinar attendees have shown us by their increasing interest in our past webinars that today's Professional Photographers really understand the value of ongoing education they receive from webinars taught by professional photographers whose work they admire," said Dave McCalley, CEO of Collages. "Collages is committed to helping these photographers sharpen their skills and grow their businesses."
